GLEN TAYLOR

OWNER

On March 23, 1995, Glen Taylor closed the deal that made him majority owner of the Minnesota Timberwolves. He added the title of NBA franchise owner to a list that already includes international businessman, state senator, entrepreneur, philanthropist and executive of the year.

Before he even completed his first full season as owner, Taylor set in motion his plan for making a mark on the Minnesota sports scene. Prior to the completion of the sale of the team from Marv Wolfenson and Harvey Ratner, Taylor had installed Rob Moor and Roger Griffith as the team's new president and chief financial officer, respectively, and promoted Minnesota and NBA basketball legend Kevin McHale to assistant general manager. With the move of McHale to vice president of basketball operations and the addition of general manager (and now head coach) Phil "Flip" Saunders and director of scouting and player development (and now assistant coach) Jerry Sichting, Taylor has assembled a basketball staff with years of experience in the pro ranks.

Taylor, 56, is CEO and Chairman of the Board of Taylor Corporation, located in Mankato, Minn., 75 miles southwest of the Twin Cities. The Taylor companies, which are involved in the printing, marketing and electronics industries, include more than 70 operating divisions in 17 states, three Canadian provinces, the United Kingdom, Australia and Mexico. Their employees number more than 10,000, including more than 5,000 Minnesotans. Taylor also owns Taylor Bancshares, which includes six banks in Minnesota.

GLEN TAYLOR

Taylor built his company from modest beginnings. While a student at Mankato State University in 1959, he took a part-time job at Carlson Wedding Service. Fifteen years later, in 1974, he acquired a majority interest in the company, laying the foundation for what would soon grow into Taylor Corporation. Taylor Corporation is the nation's largest printer of wedding invitations, controlling more than half that market. Many of the companies products are sold through independent vendors such as gift and stationary stores.

Taylor's business savvy was recognized by Corporate Report magazine, which honored him as its 1987 Executive of the Year.

Taylor was elected to the Minnesota Senate in 1980, where he served until 1990. He became assistant Senate minority leader in 1982. From 1984 to 1986, he served as Senate minority leader. While in the Senate, Taylor was instrumental in providing leadership in the areas of higher education, child care and economic development policies.

Through personal involvement, Taylor has remained active in many civic and charitable causes. In Mankato, he has served as YMCA President, Chamber of Commerce Director, Mankato Jaycees President and United Way Campaign Chairman. He has also served on his church's board of deacons and board of trustees and on the Mankato State University Foundation board of directors. On the state level, Taylor has served as the director of the Minnesota Business Partnership, director of the Greater Minnesota Corporation and president of the International Thermographers Association.

Nationally, Taylor has provided expert testimony on business and child care issues to the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives and served as a committee chair on the 1991 Commission on Reform and Efficiency (CORE).

On June 7, Mankato State University awarded Taylor its first honorary doctorate. Taylor received the degree of Honorary Doctor of Laws for his distinguished professional career and volunteer service.

Taylor was born April 20, 1941, and raised on a farm 60 miles west of his current home in Mankato. He graduated from Comfrey (Minn.) High School in 1959. In just three years, he earned his bachelor's degree from Mankato State University. He later continued his education at the Harvard Graduate School of Business.

Taylor is the father of five children: Terri, Jean, Taylor Moor, Jeff and Kendahl.

PRESIDENT

Since being named president of the Timberwolves in March of 1995, Rob Moor has led the team into a new era of popularity. "The three things that are most important to me are the character of our players, our involvement in the community and the service we provide our fans," says Moor.

With a new and exciting young team, a rapidly growing community foundation and a strong focus on service and quality, the entire organization is actively pursuing Moor's priorities.

Another area the Timberwolves are focusing on under Moor's guidance is youth marketing. From the development of an exciting new logo designed for the younger fan to the rapid expansion of youth basketball clinics, the Timberwolves are garnering more young fans than ever before.

"Brand loyalty is established early," says Moor, "we are positioning the NBA to be the youth of Minnesota's favorite sport."

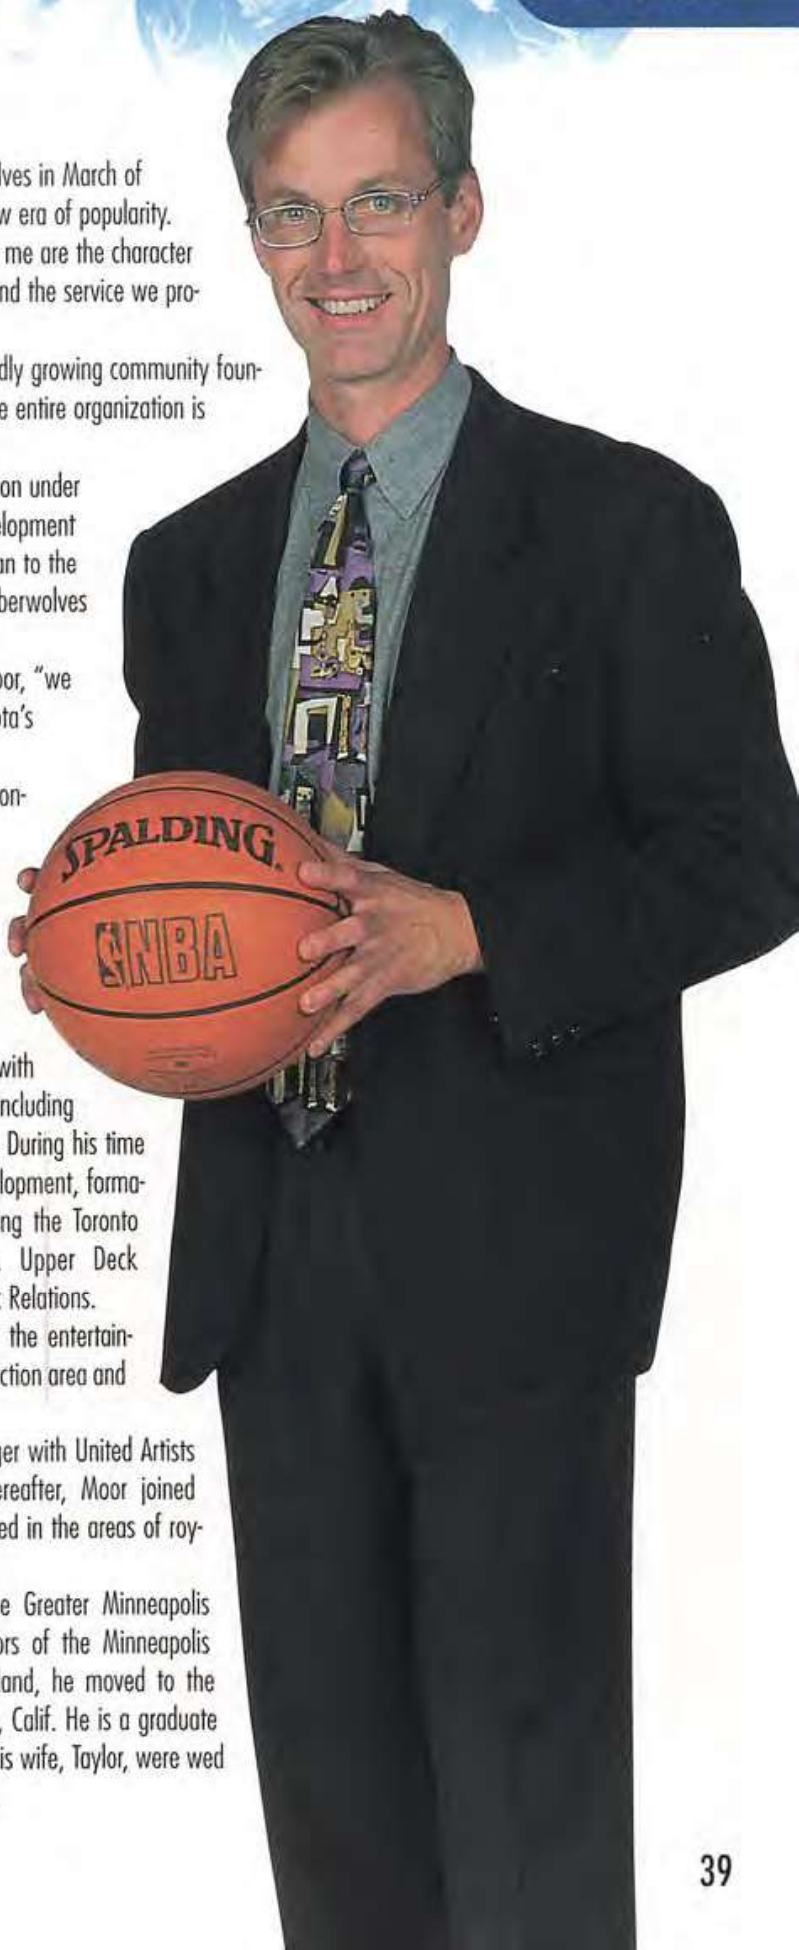
In his role as Wolves president, Moor is responsible for the day-to-day operation of the franchise. In addition, during his first season with the organization, he played an active role in finalizing the sale of the franchise to Glen Taylor and in Target Center lease negotiations with the city of Minneapolis and Ogden Corporation.

Moor came to the NBA after seven seasons with the National Hockey League's Los Angeles Kings, concluding his stay in the position of executive vice president. During his time with the Kings, Moor was instrumental in the development, formation and acquisition of several companies, including the Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League, Upper Deck Authenticated and MultiVision Marketing and Public Relations.

Moor, 42, began his professional career in the entertainment industry at MGM Studios, starting in the production area and moving to distribution.

While at MGM, he was involved in its merger with United Artists and subsequent sale to Ted Turner. Shortly thereafter, Moor joined Twentieth Century Fox Studios, where he specialized in the areas of royalties, licensing and profit participation.

Moor is on the Board of Directors of the Greater Minneapolis Chamber of Commerce and the board of directors of the Minneapolis Downtown Council. A native of Geneva, Switzerland, he moved to the United States in 1966 and lived in Santa Barbara, Calif. He is a graduate of the University of California at Irvine. Moor and his wife, Taylor, were wed in Scotland and currently reside in Wayzata, Minn.



KEVIN McHALE

V.P. OF BASKETBALL OPERATIONS

During Kevin McHale's standout career as a player in the NBA he was known for his deft moves around the basket. As the Timberwolves' vice president of basketball operations, he is making deft moves of another kind to build the Timberwolves into a playoff contender.

One of McHale's first moves came shortly after he was named to his current post on May 11, 1995 – he selected high-school phenom Kevin Garnett with the fifth-overall pick in the 1995 NBA Draft. Considered a bold move at the time, McHale and his staff were rewarded with an outstanding rookie campaign from Garnett. McHale also wasted little time in retooling the rest of the team's roster. He added seven new players to the opening-day lineup, including free-agent signees Sam Mitchell and Terry Porter.

In the 1996 NBA Draft, McHale swung a deal to acquire point guard Stephon Marbury, selected one pick ahead of the Timberwolves. Marbury has solidified the club's point guard position and was very instrumental in the team's 14-win increase over the 1995-96 season.

Timberwolves fans place their faith in the fact that it doesn't take McHale long to excel at his job. In high school, he led Hibbing to the Minnesota Class AA State Basketball Tournament title game; in college, he earned first-team All-Big Ten honors in 1980, playing for the University of Minnesota basketball team; and in the pro ranks, he joined the Boston Celtics for three NBA championships, the first coming in his rookie season with the team.

McHale continued that tradition of quick successes with the Timberwolves, moving from special assistant coach in 1993-94 to assistant general manager in 1994-95 to his latest endeavor as vice president of basketball operations. In that role, McHale, 39, is responsible for the franchise's entire basketball operations department – overseeing player personnel decisions, scouting and the coaching staff.

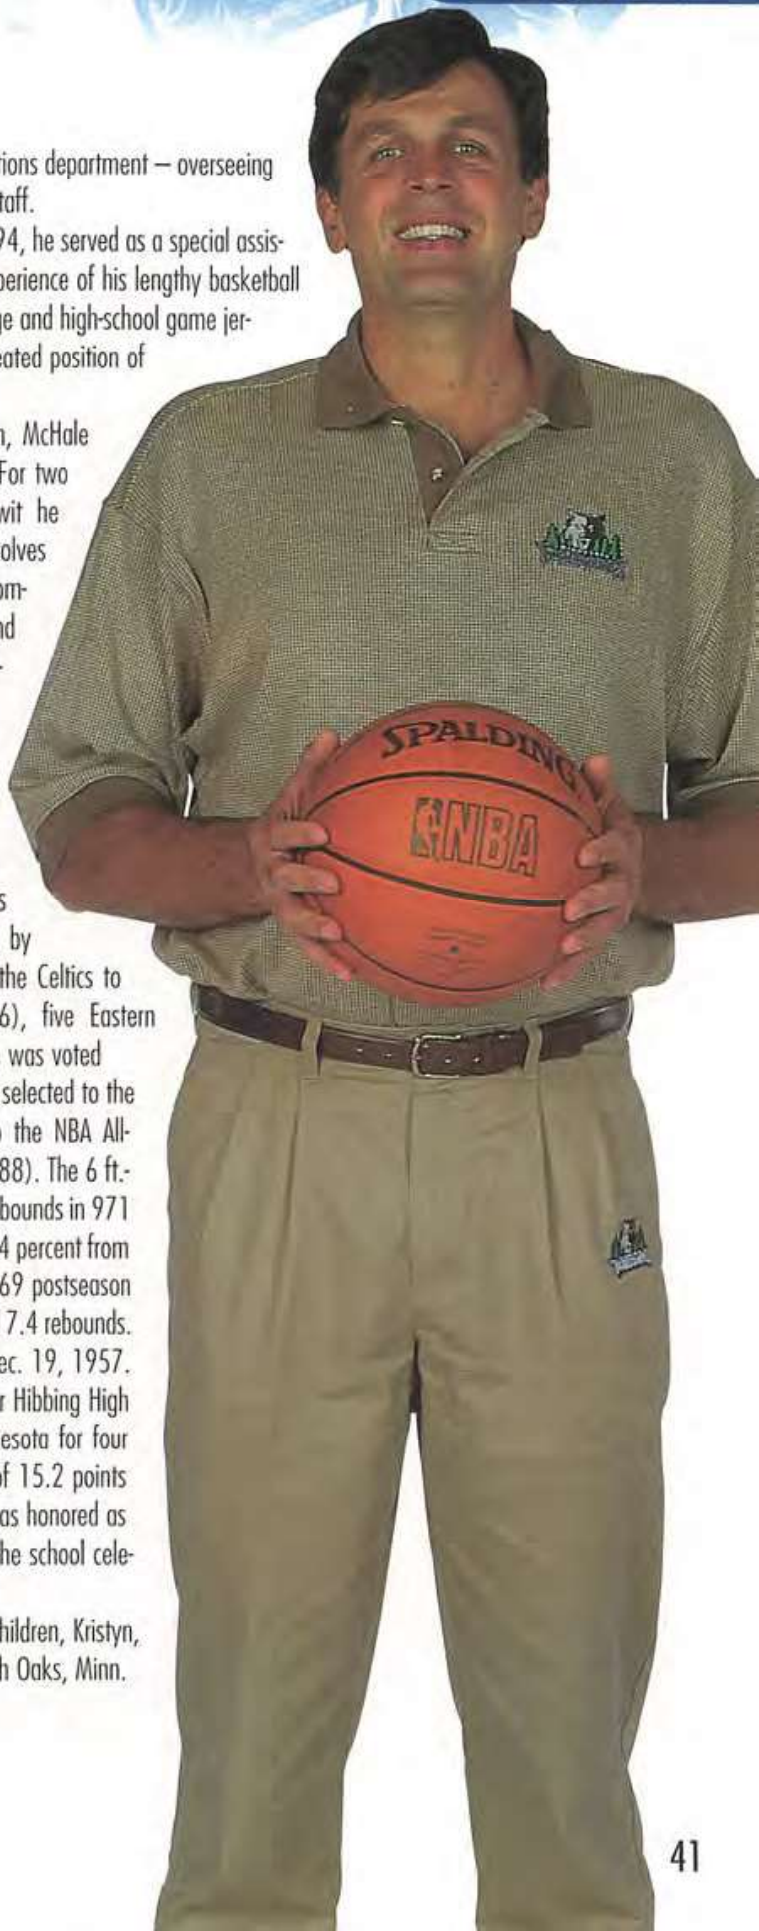
In McHale's first season with the Wolves, 1993-94, he served as a special assistant to the coaching staff. That position utilized the experience of his lengthy basketball career, which culminated in the retiring of his pro, college and high-school game jerseys. In August 1994, he was promoted to a newly-created position of assistant general manager.

With the demands of his vice-president position, McHale relinquished his broadcasting duties with the Wolves. For two seasons, 1993-95, fans enjoyed the insight and wit he brought to his broadcast analysis on the Timberwolves Television Network. His unique style and perspective, combined with the talents of Kevin Harlan, Chad Hartman and Tom Hanneman, made for one of the top local broadcasts in the NBA.

Prior to coming to the Timberwolves organization, the future hall of famer played 13 seasons for the Celtics before retiring in the spring of 1993. During last season's All-Star Game in Cleveland, McHale was honored as one of the NBA's Top 50 Players for the league's first half-century. A first-round selection (third overall) by Boston in the 1980 NBA Draft, McHale helped lead the Celtics to three NBA championships (1981, 1984 and 1986), five Eastern Conference titles and eight Atlantic Division crowns. He was voted the NBA's top sixth man twice (1984, 1985) and was selected to the All-NBA First Team in 1987. He was also named to the NBA All-Defensive First Team three times (1986, 1987 and 1988). The 6 ft.-10 in. forward/center averaged 17.9 points and 7.3 rebounds in 971 regular-season career games. He shot an impressive 55.4 percent from the floor and 79.8 percent at the free throw line. In 169 postseason contests, McHale upped his averages to 18.8 points and 7.4 rebounds.

A native of Hibbing, Minn., McHale was born Dec. 19, 1957. He first made a name for himself playing basketball for Hibbing High School. He went on to star at the University of Minnesota for four years (1976-80) where he posted a career average of 15.2 points and 8.5 rebounds per game. On Feb. 18, 1995, he was honored as the top player in U of M men's basketball history, as the school celebrated its 100th anniversary in the sport.

Kevin and his wife, Lynn, along with their five children, Kristyn, Michael, Joseph, Alexandra and Thomas, reside in North Oaks, Minn.



PHIL "FLIP" SAUNDERS

GENERAL MANAGER/HEAD COACH

Flip Saunders made history for the Timberwolves last season. In his first full season as the team's head coach, Saunders became the all-time winningest coach in franchise history. His 60-84 mark includes the team's all-time best record (40-42), most road wins (15), most home wins (25) and best winning percentage (.488).

Saunders also became the first coach to the take the Wolves to the playoffs, and this past summer was rewarded with the first five-year coaching contract in team history.

In the playoffs, Saunders led the Timberwolves to uncharted waters, but postseason play is not unknown to Saunders, whose record of basketball coaching success has a history of its own. After seven seasons as a coach in the Continental Basketball Association (CBA), Saunders was named general manager of the Timberwolves on May 11, 1995. But his stay in a front-office-only capacity was to be short-lived. On Dec. 18, 1995, Saunders added the title of head coach to his resume', replacing Bill Blair.

Saunders, 42, guided the Timberwolves to a 20-42 (.323) mark in his 62 games at the helm during the 1995-96 season. His 1995-96 squad set a then-team record for road wins in a season, equaled the second-best mark for home victories in a season and posted the second-most wins in a season. He was also instrumental in the significant development of rookie Kevin Garnett.

Saunders ranks third all-time in the CBA with 253 victories. He began his CBA career in 1988-89 with the Rapid City (S.D.) Thrillers, then moved on to the La Crosse (Wis.) Catbirds for five seasons (1989-94) before coaching the 1994-95 campaign with the Sioux Falls (S.D.) Skyforce. He also served as general manager (1991-93) and team president (1991-94) of the Catbirds.

The Timberwolves hope Saunders' ability to turn around the fortunes of a franchise has followed him to Minnesota. In each of his three stops in the CBA, he took a club with a losing record prior to his arrival and produced a winning record the next season.

Saunders' impressive coaching resume includes seven consecutive seasons of 30-or-more victories, two CBA championships (1990, 1992), two CBA Coach of the Year honors (1989, 1992) and a record 23 CBA-to-NBA player promotions.

Saunders began his successful coaching career at Golden Valley Lutheran College where he compiled a 92-13 record, including a perfect 56-0 mark at home, in four seasons. In 1981, he joined the coaching staff at his alma mater – the University of Minnesota – as an assistant and helped coach the Golden Gophers to the 1982 Big Ten championship. After five seasons at Minnesota, he moved to an assistant coach position at the University of Tulsa where he worked for two seasons before heading to the pro ranks.

Saunders was an All-America basketball player at Cuyahoga Heights High School in Cleveland. In his senior season, 1973, he was named Ohio's Class A High School Basketball Player of the Year after averaging a state-high 32.0 points a game. He continued his basketball career at Minnesota where he started 101 of his 103 career contests. As a senior, he teamed with Kevin McHale, the Timberwolves' vice president of basketball operations, to lead the Gophers to a then all-time school-best 24-3 record.

Saunders was born Feb. 23, 1955 in Cleveland, Ohio. Flip and his wife, Debbie, have four children: Ryan, Mindy and twins, Rachel and Kimberly.

ROB BABCOCK — DIRECTOR OF PLAYER PERSONNEL

Rob Babcock enters his fourth season as the Timberwolves' director of player personnel. He was promoted to that position prior to the start of the 1994-95 season after spending the previous two years as a full-time scout with the organization.

Prior to working for the Nuggets, Babcock was the head basketball coach at Phoenix (Ariz.) College, where his teams advanced to the ACCAC playoffs twice and were the regional runners-up in 1986.

A native of Phoenix, Babcock earned high-school All-America basketball honors in his senior season. He attended Grand Canyon College in Phoenix and helped his team to a second-place finish in the 1974 NAIA final national rankings.

Following his graduation from Grand Canyon, Babcock began his coaching career in Mexico City at The American School Foundation. From Mexico City, he returned to Phoenix where he coached at Greenway and Maryvale high schools. In 1982, he earned Southwest Valley Coach of the Year honors.

JERRY SICHTING — DIRECTOR OF SCOUTING AND PLAYER DEVELOPMENT/ASST. COACH

On May 11, 1995, Jerry Sichting was named director of scouting and player development for the Minnesota Timberwolves. On Dec. 18, 1995, he added assistant coach to his title. Known throughout his NBA playing career as a hard-nosed, tenacious competitor, Sichting brings those same qualities of dedication with him to his first NBA front-office and coaching position.

Sichting, 40, spent four seasons (1991-95) serving as the analyst on Boston Celtics radio broadcasts. His broadcast resume also includes fill-in roles on radio and television with the Indiana Pacers during the 1990-91 season, commentating on various high school broadcasts throughout Indiana and a pregame show for his alma mater – Purdue University – on WTTV-TV.

In addition to the valuable insight he gained during his four seasons of watching and commentating on NBA games, Sichting also acquired an in-depth knowledge of the game from his 10 seasons as a player in the NBA. He began his career in 1980 and spent the following five seasons with the Pacers, averaging a career-high 11.5 points per game during the 1983-84 season.

In 1985, Sichting signed with the Celtics as a free agent and became an integral reserve. In 1986, he teamed with Timberwolves vice president of basketball operations Kevin McHale to lead the Celtics to the World Championship. Midway through the 1987-88 campaign he was traded to the Portland Trail Blazers. He finished his playing career in 1989-90 as a member of the Charlotte Hornets and Milwaukee Bucks.

Sichting appeared in 598 career regular-season games where he recorded an average of 6.9 points and 3.3 assists per game. He saw action in 47 playoff contests posting averages of 3.0 points and 1.7 assists per outing.

Sichting is a native of Martinsville, Ind. Jerry and his wife, Joni, have four children: Jared, Jason, Jordan and Jenna.

GREG BALLARD — ASSISTANT COACH

Greg Ballard enters his fourth season in Minnesota. He joined the Timberwolves' coaching staff Sept. 28, 1994. He came to Minnesota from the Dallas Mavericks, where he served as an assistant alongside fellow Wolves aide Randy Wittman. Ballard, 42, had worked as an international scout for Burghy Roma of the Italian League before returning to the NBA to serve on Quinn Buckner's staff in Dallas.

The fourth overall pick in the 1977 NBA Draft out of the University of Oregon, Ballard played eight seasons with the Washington Bullets, including his rookie year on their 1978 NBA championship squad. He was traded to Golden State in June 1985, and played two seasons with the Warriors before heading to Italy where he played for a year-and-a-half. He also had a brief stint in the CBA and with the Seattle SuperSonics. He returned to Italy to serve as an assistant coach on the 1989-90 Il Messagero Roma team, which featured current NBA players Danny Ferry and Brian Shaw.

Ballard owns a career average of 12.4 points per game in 802 NBA regular-season contests. He posted a career-high average of 18.8 points an outing in the 1981-82 season.

In addition to being a member of the University of Oregon Hall of Fame, Ballard was inducted into the state of Oregon Hall of Fame in August of 1996.

A native of Los Angeles, Ballard was a highly regarded baseball prospect as a pitcher and was selected by the Montreal Expos in the 15th round of the 1973 free-agent baseball draft. Greg and his wife, Donna, have three children, Lawrence, Gabrielle and Gregory, Jr.

RANDY WITTMAN — ASSISTANT COACH

Considered by many in NBA circles to be one of the more exciting young assistants in the league, Randy Wittman is in his fourth campaign with the Wolves. Wittman, 38, came to Minnesota from the Dallas Mavericks, where he spent the 1993-94 season as an assistant coach under Quinn Buckner. Prior to joining the Mavs, he served one season (1992-93) on Bob Hill's staff with the Indiana Pacers.

A 1983 graduate of Indiana University, Wittman played nine seasons in the NBA. He was a first-round draft choice of the Washington Bullets, but was dealt by them to the Atlanta Hawks prior to the start of the 1983-84 season. During his nine-year NBA playing career, Wittman saw action with the Hawks, Sacramento Kings and Indiana Pacers. He averaged 7.4 points per game, shooting 50.1 percent from the floor in 543 career games.

MIKE SCHULER — SCOUT

Mike Schuler retired from coaching after 16 seasons in the NBA, but returns for his fourth season on the Timberwolves' basketball staff – this time in his new role of team scout. A longtime veteran of the NBA coaching ranks and former Wolves assistant coach, the 55-year-old Ohio native enters his 17th season in the league. He came to the Timberwolves after spending the 1993-94 season as an assistant with the Sacramento Kings, and joins the scouting department after three seasons on the Timberwolves bench.

Schuler brings more than 35 years of coaching experience to the Timberwolves, splitting his 16 seasons in the NBA between assistant and head coaching positions. He began his NBA career with New Jersey in 1981. From there he moved to Milwaukee, where he spent three campaigns working on Don Nelson's staff.

In 1986, Schuler accepted his first NBA head coaching assignment with the Portland Trail Blazers. In his first season, he improved the Blazers from a 40-42 mark the previous season to a 49-33 record and a second-place finish in the Pacific Division. He was a consensus selection for NBA Coach of the Year honors, leading Portland to a league-high scoring average of 117.9 points per game. The following season, he guided the Blazers to a 53-29 record and another second-place finish in the Pacific Division.

After one season (1989-90) at Golden State, Schuler was named head coach of the Los Angeles Clippers in the summer of 1990, where he stayed until February 1992. During his five-year NBA head coaching career, Schuler compiled a 179-159 (.530) record.

Schuler and his wife, Gloria, have two daughters, Kimberly and Kristin.

NOVEMBER (7-8)

The Timberwolves gave notice that this season could be different than the past by opening with a victory for only the second time in team history, 82-78, over San Antonio at Target Center. After embarking on a four-game road trip, the Wolves returned home to post back-to-back victories, including a first-ever Minneapolis triumph over Portland (100-97 on Nov. 12). A Nov. 14 win vs. Dallas gave Minnesota a 4-3 record, marking the latest date in franchise history that the team had been over the .500 mark. They finished the month with a 5-1 mark at home, with the only blemish coming in a 106-98 loss to Seattle on Nov. 27. Tom Gugliotta led the club in scoring in 12 of the 15 games, averaging 22.4 ppg and 8.7 rpg. Kevin Garnett added 15.0 ppg and 9.4 rpg.

DECEMBER (5-10, 12-18)

The season's second month began on a rough note as the Wolves dropped their first six games, with Kevin Garnett missing five of the losses nursing a left mid-foot sprain. They broke through with a win at home over Phoenix (108-105) on Dec. 13 before suffering three more losses to fall nine games under .500. In what may have been the turning point of the season, the Wolves swept a four-game home stand (Dec. 21-28), with victories over the LA Lakers, Utah, New York and Denver. Stephon Marbury poured in 33 points in the 107-98 win over Utah. Tom Gugliotta paced the club in scoring in 10 games, averaging a team-high 21.6 ppg for the month. He also averaged 8.5 rpg. Stephon Marbury averaged 17.2 ppg and 7.6 apg.

JANUARY (9-6, 21-24)

The Timberwolves set a franchise record for most wins in a month posting nine. They also recorded a 6-3 mark away from Target Center. January started with back-to-back road wins in Boston (Jan. 3) and Milwaukee (Jan. 4), with Kevin Garnett blocking eight shots in each of those victories. Dean Garrett moved into the starting lineup on Jan. 20 and paced the club on the boards in five of the month's final six games. He tied a club record by collecting 20 rebounds in the Jan. 31 victory at San Antonio. Stephon Marbury averaged 16.9 ppg and 8.1 apg enroute to NBA Rookie of the Month honors, a first for a Timberwolves player. Tom Gugliotta averaged 22.5 ppg and 10.5 rpg.

FEBRUARY (8-3, 29-27)

The Wolves' 72.7 winning percentage in February was an all-time best for a month. They posted wins at home over Portland, Vancouver, Orlando, Phoenix and Golden State and road triumphs over Vancouver, San Antonio and Dallas. In the Feb. 26 victory at San Antonio, Tom Gugliotta set a franchise record for single-game field goal percentage (91.7) going 11-for-12. The following night in Dallas, the Wolves rallied from a 17-point fourth-quarter deficit to post a 107-105 win in double overtime. The victory put the Timberwolves at two games over .500 (29-27) for the first time in team history. The month also featured the first all-star game performance by a Timberwolves player as both Gugliotta and Kevin Garnett played in the mid-season classic in Cleveland. Gugliotta averaged 23.1 ppg and 7.4 rpg and Garnett added 18.0 ppg and 8.2 rpg during February.

MARCH (6-10, 35-37)

After two months playing at above .500 ball, the Timberwolves stumbled a bit in March. A promising six-game home stand, longest of the season, produced a disappointing 2-4 record, with wins over Denver and Philadelphia. The 96-83 win over Denver was a franchise record 30th. The Mar. 19 win over Vancouver was a club record 22nd at home. In a Mar. 30 win at Golden State, Kevin Garnett scored 33 points and Tom Gugliotta added 31, becoming only the fourth tandem in team history (and the first in over six years) to tally 30+ points in the same game. Gugliotta again paced the Wolves in scoring and rebounding at 18.0 ppg and 8.8 rpg. Stephon Marbury averaged 15.6 ppg and 8.4 apg.

APRIL (5-5, 40-42)

On Apr. 10 in Los Angeles, the Wolves recorded one of the most important victories in team history. The 108-96 win over the Clippers gave the Timberwolves their first-ever playoff berth. The month's other highlight came on Apr. 16 in Miami. The Wolves scored the first 16 points of the game and posted a 95-87 victory over the Atlantic Division champion Heat. Minnesota closed out its regular season schedule with a 122-112 win over Milwaukee – its 25th triumph at Target Center. Stephon Marbury tied a club record with 17 assists in the game. The 122 points was a team high for the season. Marbury averaged 17.7 ppg and 8.1 apg for the month and Kevin Garnett added 17.7 ppg and 8.3 rpg. The Wolves' first playoff appearance took place in Houston on Apr. 25. The Wolves dropped a 112-95 decision enroute to being swept 3-0 in the first-round series. The Timberwolves tied an NBA playoff record for fewest turnovers in a three-game series with 28. They did, however, allow the Rockets to post a new league playoff record for three-pointers made (35) and attempted (81) in a three-game series.

ACTIVE LIST

The maximum number of active players is 12, the minimum is 11. At no time shall a team be permitted to dress fewer than eight players for a regular-season game or fewer than nine for a playoff game. During the off-season and training camp, teams may carry no more than 20 active players.

INJURED LIST

A player transferred to the injured list due to injury or illness must stay there for no fewer than five games.

TEN-DAY CONTRACT

On or after the 55th day following the first game, a team may sign a player to a 10-day contract. This procedure may be used only to replace a player assigned to the injured list. No player may be signed to more than two 10-day agreements.

WAIVERS

From Aug. 15 to the end of the regular season, clubs may claim waived players within 48 hours after notice. Players waived at any other time may be claimed within 10 days. If no team claims the waived player, he becomes a free agent. If more than one club claims a waived player, the club with the lesser record at that time claims the player.

GUARANTEED CONTRACT DATE

On the 56th day of the regular season, all player contracts become guaranteed for the remainder of the season.

RENUNCIATION OF AMATEUR ELIGIBILITY

A person whose high-school class has graduated shall become eligible for the college draft if he renounces his intercollegiate basketball eligibility by written notice to the NBA at least 45 days prior to the draft. Prior to 45 days before the draft, teams may not make direct or indirect contact with players who have eligibility left. Clubs may contact players without remaining eligibility, but may not discuss compensation.

NBA PLAYOFF FORMAT

A total of 16 teams qualify for the NBA playoffs: the four division winners and the next six teams in each conference according to their won-lost record – regardless of division. The first round is best-of-five games and each succeeding round, including the NBA Finals, is best-of-seven games.

In every series, the home-court advantage in the extra game goes to the team with the better record during the regular season, regardless of its standing in the division race. Thus, if a division winner plays a second-place team from another division that had a better record, the second-place team would get home-court advantage.

In determining the playoff matches, the eight qualifiers are ranked Teams 3 through 8 according to their records. The playoff pairings for the First Round are teams 1-8, 2-7, 3-6, and 4-5 in each conference. In the conference semifinals, the winner of teams 1-8 plays the winner of teams 4-5 and the winner of teams 2-7 plays the winner of teams 3-6.

The NBA Finals will be played on a 2-3-2 basis, the team with the better regular-season record getting the home-court advantage for the first and last two games. Other best-of-seven series are 2-2-1-1-1.

Some portions of the playoff format were revised in June, 1983. A vote by the NBA Board of Governors made the revisions effective in the 1984 playoffs. The major revisions included allowing 16 teams to qualify for the playoffs and changing the first-round best-of-three series to a best-of-five series.

NOTE: Team 1 in each conference is the division winner with the best record. Team 2 is the other division winner and Teams 3-8 are ranked according to their regular-season winning percentage.

COMMUNITY FOUNDATION

Mission Statement

The Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation wants to positively impact the lives of the youth in our Minnesota communities, enabling them to make responsible decisions, and helping them to contribute to their own future.

Since 1989, the Minnesota Timberwolves Community Foundation has been a vital contributor to the Twin Cities community as well as to many communities throughout the state. Contributing close to two million dollars over the last eight years, the Timberwolves Foundation has created many new community initiatives, while providing necessary funding to many worthwhile programs and charitable organizations.

The Timberwolves Foundation has been a driving force behind many youth-related projects over the past eight years, including: the Timberwolves Stay-in-School initiative, Tickets for Kids program, Boys in the Hood Junior League, Project Rebound, Jump Start to Reading, the Timberwolves annual Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday home game, the Give-and-Go Basketball Leagues, the Timberwolves Holiday Hospital Tours and many others.

Some of the existing programs and organizations sponsored by the Timberwolves Foundation:

African American Family Services
Athletes Committed to Educating Students
Children's Cancer Research Fund
Children's Defense Fund
Children's Heartlink
Deva House
The Edina ABC Foundation
Emergency Foodshelf Network
Family Alternatives
Family Hope Services
Give-and-Go Basketball Leagues
Harriet Tubman Center
Hospitality House
Minneapolis Urban League
Minneapolis Crisis Nursery
M.S. Society
NAACP
Ronald McDonald House
Seed Academy/Harvest Prep
Sharing and Caring Hands
St. Joseph's Home for Children
The Salvation Army
United Way
Washburn Child Guidance Center

The Timberwolves Foundation strives to do more than provide financial support for these and many other charitable causes and organizations. The Foundation's goal is to create an interactive relationship that often includes tickets to home games, player and staff visits and incentives for at-risk youth.

Stay-in-School Program

A hallmark program of professional basketball and the Minnesota Timberwolves, the Stay-in-School program is a junior high school initiative focusing on attitude, attendance and achievement. Twelve schools are a part of this year-long program, with six schools each from Minneapolis and St. Paul. All sixth-, seventh- and eighth-grade students from the participating schools are eligible to sign a contract in September. If they meet their monthly objectives as established by their teachers, they receive monthly visits and incentives. Those who succeed throughout the year are treated to a Stay-in-School Jam at Target Center including Timberwolves players and national recording and entertainment stars.

Jump Start to Reading

This program is designed to encourage fourth- and fifth-grade students to read at least four books each month during their leisure time. If a student achieves or surpasses their goal of four books, he or she will be rewarded with incentives provided by the Timberwolves and a participating sponsor. Each month a player/staff member will visit the classroom which has read the most books. The player/staff member will either choose to read a short story or talk about a subject of his or her choice.

Thanksgiving Turkey Giveaway

Timberwolves players and coaches distribute several hundred turkeys and rolls to needy families and individuals. Coupons are sent to several area shelters who make certain they are given to individuals who need the assistance. The meals are distributed in the lobby of Target Center by the entire Timberwolves team.

Holiday Party for Kids

More than two-hundred children from local shelters and community agencies are invited to a Timberwolves game in December to celebrate the holidays.

Prior to the game, the children, along with a parent or guardian, are invited to a private party hosted by Timberwolves players on the suite level at Target Center. Each child receives a wrapped present and everyone in attendance gets to enjoy a hot Turkey dinner. Timberwolves players help distribute the gifts as they spread holiday cheer with the children and families.

Holiday Hospital Tour

The Timberwolves players and coaches visit four area children's hospitals and shelters to distribute gifts and holiday cheer. Each Timberwolves player and coach participate in this annual act of giving. Many of the children are suffering from or recovering from serious illnesses and challenges.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Holiday Program

Each January, the Timberwolves host a special celebration to commemorate the life and work of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Prior to the Timberwolves home game on Dr. King's national holiday, students and fans are invited to observe the holiday by attending a special pregame program. The format includes a national speaker, special musical performances by local and national acts, as well as appearances by Timberwolves players. All students participating in the Stay-in-School program are invited to attend along with a family member, and other local community agencies are provided with complimentary tickets so that families can attend this important event.

Tickets for Kids

The Timberwolves donate more than 50,000 tickets per season to non-profit agencies, schools and shelters. Season-ticket holders also donate unused tickets to this program for distribution. This program allows individuals who would not have an opportunity to see an NBA basketball game the chance to visit Target Center. Individual and corporate grants for tickets are matched by Timberwolves players and the Timberwolves Foundation.

Taste of the Timberwolves

The primary fundraiser for the Timberwolves Foundation, this casual night of dining and interaction with Timberwolves players and coaches is a once-in-a-lifetime experience for a fan. Every October, over a dozen of the Twin Cities' finest restaurants donate their foods and services to create an unforgettable buffet, while players and coaches take on all challengers in Ping-Pong, pool, free throw shooting, putt putt golf and other activities.

Scholarship Program

Along with regional cable partner, MSC, the Timberwolves provide four $2,500 scholarships to high school seniors who are enrolled in college programs for the fall semester. This past year, more than 350 applications were received from students throughout Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. The scholarships focus on community service, academic achievement and overall character.

TeamUp

This national program encourages youth to become involved in a number of community-service based programs. Adopted by the NBA in 1996 as the league's top community priority, each team creates its own guidelines. Players and coaches participate in activities, and the winning program receives the Timberwolves TeamUp award prior to a Target Center home game. The Timberwolves participate in a number of activities including food drives, a winter coat drive and a state-wide youth service recognition day.

Coat Drive

Led by Sam Mitchell, the Timberwolves donated more than $24,000 to purchase upwards of 700 winter coats for kids in the Twin Cities in 1996. The purchased coats are delivered to area agencies and shelters and distributed to children in need.

T-Mates

While the Timberwolves players may get the headlines, their spouses are making news for themselves as well. The Timberwolves Wives Organization, established in 1995, has been involved in numerous fundraisers and benefits.

The organization, comprised of wives of the Timberwolves players, coaches and basketball staff, strives to reach out and make a difference in the community. The Wives Organization created and sponsored a team calendar with all proceeds benefiting the Oncology Unit of the Minnesota's Children's Hospital.

The Wives Organization also sponsors a Black Tie dinner, a midseason formal featuring dining and entertainment with Timberwolves players and coaches.

KEVIN HARLAN — PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Kevin Harlan returns for his ninth season behind the microphone as the voice of the Timberwolves. Harlan has become one of the most recognizable voices in sports broadcasting, and his high-energy play-by-play style has been a Timberwolves trademark since the team's inception.

Harlan also calls a full schedule of NFL football games each fall, working his fourth season with the Fox television network as a play-by-play broadcaster. In addition, he calls the action for college football and basketball and championship boxing for the Mutual Broadcasting System. National broadcasts are nothing new to Harlan, who has worked with NBC and ESPN. For the past two seasons, Harlan has called NBA playoff action for TNT and TBS, and this season his role will expand into the regular season for both networks.

In addition to providing radio play-by-play for the Wolves, Harlan, 36, will also call the action on the Timberwolves Television Network.

Harlan graduated from the University of Kansas in 1982, and at the age of 22, he landed his first job as the radio and television voice of the Kansas City Kings – a job he held for two years. The versatile Harlan spent nine seasons as the voice of the NFL's Kansas City Chiefs and also called game action for ESPN on the collegiate football level. Prior to that, Harlan called play-by-play for both football and basketball at the University of Kansas and the University of Missouri.

Harlan has also done play-by-play on NFL national telecasts for NBC Sports and covered the NBA's conference finals for the NBA radio network.

Born in Milwaukee, Harlan is the son of Green Bay Packers President Bob Harlan. His brother, Bryan, is the public relations director for the Chicago Bears.

Harlan and his wife, Ann, reside in Mission Hills, Kan., with their four children, Abigail, Haley, Olivia and Robert.

TOM HANNEMAN — BROADCAST STUDIO ANCHOR

One of the most versatile and familiar voices in Minnesota sports broadcasting, Tom Hanneman begins his ninth season as studio anchor of the Timberwolves Radio Network and the Timberwolves Television Network.

Recognized for his smooth and mellifluous delivery, Hanneman is the only person in Timberwolves history to take part in every broadcast since the team's inception. Hanneman's talents have also received nationwide exposure. He worked four seasons as the studio host of NBA Radio, anchoring a 140-station network that features the All-Star Weekend, the NBA Game of the Week and expanded NBA playoff and draft coverage. In addition, Hanneman's NBA Radio work took him to Toronto to host the 1997 World Championship of Basketball for the network, and he hosted a weekly radio show for BBC in London that was broadcast in Australia and New Zealand.

Hanneman was already familiar to Minnesota sports fans when he joined the Timberwolves broadcast team in 1989. For the previous 16 years he was seen by Twin Citians as a news and sports reporter on WCCO-TV. Along with his NBA Radio visibility, Hanneman has also made an impression on the national scene with his coverage of the 1984 Winter Olympics in Sarajevo for CBS-TV, as well as his work for ESPN with marathoner Frank Shorter, covering the men's and women's U.S. Olympic team trials at the Twin Cities Marathon in 1987. A personable and entertaining style, with a healthy dose of wit, has been a long-time Hanneman trademark.

Born in La Crosse, Wis., Tom makes his home in Eden Prairie, Minn., along with his wife, Nancy, and their children, Adam, Courtney and Kyle.

CHAD HARTMAN — PLAY-BY-PLAY ANNOUNCER

Chad Hartman enters his eighth season of broadcasting Minnesota Timberwolves games. He will provide play-by-play for Timberwolves radio broadcasts when regular play-by-play announcer Kevin Harlan moves to television broadcasts on the Timberwolves Television Network. In addition, Hartman also performs play-by-play duties of Timberwolves games on Midwest Sports Channel.

Hartman, who graduated from Arizona State University in 1988, has done play-by-play work on Minnesota Twins, Minnesota Vikings and University of Minnesota football and baseball broadcasts. He has also lent his broadcast expertise to the local First Bank Classic Tennis event. Along with Twin Cities columnist Dan Barreiro, Hartman hosts a popular afternoon drive-time call-in radio show on KFAN. This past August, the duo helped raise more than $170,000 for the Sudden Infant Death Center through their annual golf tournament.

Hartman, 32, his wife, Kathleen, and their sons, Hunter and Griffen, reside in Plymouth, Minn.

TRENT TUCKER — BROADCAST ANALYST

Former University of Minnesota guard Trent Tucker returns for his third season as the broadcast analyst on the Timberwolves Television Network. Tucker, a four-year letter winner on the U's basketball team, also brings 11 seasons of NBA experience to the microphone, which includes one championship season with the Chicago Bulls in 1992-93.

Tucker's broadcast resume includes working as analyst for Gopher and Timberwolves games on MSC, the NBA expert for SPTV's basketball coverage and radio work on KFAN. Tucker is single and currently resides in Minneapolis.
